Shir Aviv is an Excel instructor relentlessly focused on saving people time. He does this by teaching shortcuts, and breaking bad Excel habits. His obsession with time saving means that his clients can actually see the ROI from his classes, in an Excel chart (obviously). He's also one of the few Excel instructors with a sense of humor (see him performing standup comedy here: <https://excelshir.com/about>). Shir has taught thousands of students, including top executives at Publicis, Bloomberg, Vimeo, and Salesforce. He has already saved them hundreds of thousands of hours and millions of dollars.
